

WTF is the Unofficial Correspondents' Dinner??

Forget the Nerd Prom the night before, The Unofficial Correspondent's Dinner is a first-of-its-kind Political Roast show that will feature a constituency of DC's best comedians, in character, for a bipartisan bashing of epic proportions.

What would an uncensored Barack Obama say to The Donald? What will Sarah Huckabee Sanders say when the gloves are off? Will Robert Mueller bring the house down? What does Melania have up her sleeve for Bernie and Hillary?

Oh, and this Trump will be both attending and headlining the show with his own jabs and crosses for all of the low I.Q. individuals. When the dust settles and laughing ends, money will have been raised for Hilarity for Charity, a non-profit for Alzheimer's care, research, and support.

This epic show night after the actual White House Correspondents' dinner, Sunday, April 28th, at 7:30 PM at the DC Comedy Loft at the Bier Baron Tavern. Doors will open at 7:00 PM for first come, first serve seating.

Contacting the Constituents

Haywood Turnipseed Jr. will reveal his much-anticipated Barack Obama character, Barack Lebowski. Haywood has over a decade of experience in making people laugh all over the country and internationally. He has performed at the Kennedy Center, The DC Improv, and just about every single stage in the District. Originally from the Holy Land of Indiana, Haywood now resides in DC with his family and is a U.S. Air Force Veteran.

Brock Snyder, a local legend in DC comedy for his off-the-wall high-energy performances will embody the one and only, Donald J. Trump. You may never see The Don the same way again after seeing Brock's unique take on the Commander in Chief (and possible Russian Asset). A Northern Virginia native, Brock has left his indelible mark on countless area audiences.

Tim Kardashian will host the event as a ruthless Wolf Blitzer. Tim is a beloved producer and standup comedian from the Maryland suburbs known for creating laughs for charitable causes. His hilarious take on CNN's lead political anchor holding no punches will draw upon his real-life experience DJing Donald Trump Jr.'s 21st birthday party in Atlantic City.

Elena Torres is a telenovela actress turned stand up comedian turning Melania Trump. No, that is not a joke. After growing up in Mexico and graduating from the USC, Elena got cast on a Univision soap opera in Mexico City and continued to work for the channel for five years. After several hit telenovelas under her belt, she's now a staple on the DC comedy scene that will offer a can't-miss performance of the First Lady.

Kevin McClain, who is both a US Census employee and self-described Gay Asian Narcissist will portray the enigmatic Robert Mueller. Growing up gay in Southern Virginia, Kevin became adept at using his humor to diffuse any situation. A former-Republican-turned-practically-Communist potty-mouth, he has won crowds over with his hilarious allusions and references to gender, race, sexuality, class, and politics.
